Supplementary Study
International Expertise
Institute for Coaching & Career

In an increasingly globalized world art plays a central role in overcoming cultural and linguistic barriers.

But how do you find your way in this international world?

How do you gain access to the international art and culture scene?

How can you overcome borders and build up a network to work internationally?

Supplementing your studies with courses such as „International Expertise“ will not only promote professional development, but also contribute to personal growth and knowledge expansion. There are numerous opportunities to build an international career in the art and culture world and to participate in exciting projects. Interaction with professionals from different countries and disciplines is invaluable.

Expand your global mindset with our International Expertise program!

In addition to the benefits for your own international career, you can obtain a certificate for the basic module and a certificate for the advanced module. These documents serve to expand your portfolio and can be an advantage when applying for jobs.

How does the supplementary study work?

There is a whole list of subjects that you can have credited to your supplementary studies. Some of these are free electives, others may even be compulsory subjects in your curriculum. If you have already attended some of the subjects, you can use them retrospectively. The basic module and advanced module each contain 12 ECTS credits.

There are also two compulsory courses that you must attend in order to complete the basic module:

- VO International Expertise
(2 SWS/2 ECTS-Credits) NEW
- PS Transcultural Practice
(2 SWS/2 ECTS-Credits) NEW
